

ETAN

ELECTRO-POP

ETAN is many things: a citizen of the world yet an immigrant; a woman and a fierce feminist; a naïve dreamer, yet a rationalist; a sharp and compelling musician, and an uncompromising artist.

ETAN has always felt a sense of foreignness wherever she went, yet always made a conscious decision to belong, no matter where she may be, which inspires a unique feeling of universal relatability in her tracks.

She was born in London to an artistic and musical family, traveling the world with her parents, watching them build amazing careers, knowing she is destined to follow their creative footsteps. She started her musical training at the age of 5. When she was 9, she moved with her family from rainy, foggy London to the bubbly, sweaty city of Tel Aviv. Etan was many things - a well mannered British girl with a sunny, mediterranean vibe.

After several years studying music at Israel's top school, her uncommon, globally inspired sounds led her to build a strong presence in the Tel-Aviv indie scene. In 2014 she formed "Tetish", an electro-pop band with a twist. In 2016 they released a debut album in English, playing non-stop, touring (North America, the UK, Germany), performing in festivals (WOMAD UK, CMJ NYC, CMW to name a few), planning their future, living locally while aiming internationally.

Living in Israel was difficult for ETAN, because she is many things. Most of all, a passionate believer in freedom of speech and equal rights for all. In 2017, ETAN finally returned to the UK to pursue a solo career. The new location and perspective encouraged her to write about human rights, free speech, as well as foreignness, immigration, society's labels, and most importantly, the lack of sunshine. Some would say she carries the sunshine within her.

Her songs hold a deep message, alongside beautiful melodies and ETAN's unique voice and songwriting. She draws inspiration from musicians such as Bon Iver, James Blake, Susanne Sundfore, St Vincent, Imogen Heap and Bjork.

After working all alone during the writing process, and self-producing her demos, ETAN is now searching for the right collaborators to take part in this journey, to turn this important piece into something that people could find themselves in, and share with the world.

ETAN is many things. Are you ready to be many things along with her?
